How soon does the Tax Office respond after filing a tax return?

The Tax Office aims to respond within 3 months after receiving the tax return. However, formally, they are allowed to take up to 3 years.

When will I receive your invoice?

We usually send our invoice a few weeks after the tax return has been submitted.

Is it ok to send the statement of agreement by email?

Sure, you can send the statement via email. We recommend printing the statement, signing it, and then scanning or taking a photo of it to send by email. Of course, sending it by post is also an option.

I just received a number of letters from the Tax Office regarding 'machtinging SBA', 'doorlopende machtinging intermediair', and 'vooraf ingevulde aangifte', what do I do with them?

We request authorization for access to information from the Tax Office (VIA) and access to the assessments (SBA). As a result, you will receive various letters from the Tax Authority. You can forward these to us, either by post or e-mail (a scan or photo of the last page of each letter is sufficient).

Documents

Question

When do you need my documents for the tax filing?

What can I do if I need my tax return sooner?

How do I know which documents you will need?

Will you remind me when I need to send my documents to you?

Reply

The sooner you provide these, the sooner we will handle your tax return.

You can communicate that to us. We understand that in certain cases, it is necessary to submit the tax return sooner. For instance, if you need to apply for a mortgage or if you have a substantial payment due for the year 2024. We will then schedule your tax return with priority.

If this is the first time we are preparing your tax return, you can ask your advisor to send you a list of required documents. If we prepared your tax return last year and your situation has not changed, you can provide the same documents as last year.

We will send a reminder by e-mail in February. Later in the year we will also send several reminders if your tax return has not yet been submitted.

Deadline & extension

Question

Reply

Will you request extension for my tax return?

We request extension for all our clients until May 1st of the following year.

Why can't you file my tax return before the deadline (first of May)?

We deal with large volumes of tax returns each year. Therefore, it is not possible to file all of these before the 1st of May. Hence we request extension so the workload can be distributed over a longer period of time.

Will I be in risk of getting a fine if you file my tax return after the deadline?

If extension has been granted, you will not get a fine if your tax return has been filed after the 1st of May. However, some interest may be calculated over the due tax.
